Feeding Guidelines:

For maintenance, feed daily 2-3% of dog's ideal weight. (Example- a 50 lb dog would need approximately 1 lb dog food daily.)

For reproduction or growth, feed daily 5-10% of dog's weight.

The amount needed by each dog will vary according to its metabolism and activity level. These are guidelines only.

Please don't cook the food! It's meant to be eaten raw. In fact, it has been formulated and tested to be utilized in raw form. Cooking will alter the nutritional value.

Transitioning your dog to a raw diet:

If your dog is currently on a kibble (dry) diet, you should feed your dog small amounts of raw food for two days. After that, switch to a complete raw diet. Do not mix or alternate kibble with raw food.

Most dogs love this food so much that they'll quickly eat what you give them and look for more. Be careful that you don't overfeed. Start with the lower estimate of food required for a week or so to be sure you are not giving too much.

Albright's Raw Dog Food is formulated and independently tested by three laboratories to meet the nutritional levels established by the American Association of Feed Control Officials. It is a complete and balanced food for all life stages, including the youth of large dogs (50 lbs or more as an adult.)
